Announcement of new Chair and Deputy for the RegTech Association

The RegTech Association (RTA) is announcing a new Chair for the Association, Jasper Poos, General Manager Performance and Risk Transformation at the Commonwealth Bank and Deputy Chair, Leica Ison, CEO and Founder of Skyjed, a RegTech company.

Jasper has served on the RTA Advisory Committee, Chaired the Membership and Conference Committees and has been a Board Director since 2018. Jasper has worked with a global span both with ING and CBA, and has also worked with the Dutch regulator. He will bring new institutional and international perspectives to the role. He steps into the industry shoes after the founding Chair, Julian Fenwick, Founder and CEO of GRC Solutions, a RegTech company in the adaptive analytics space, stood down from the role after 5 years. Julian remains on the board of the Association.

Jasper said about the appointment, “I’m honoured, excited and humbled to have been elected by the Board of Directors as the next Chair of The RegTech Association. I’ve experienced the incredible growth and acceleration of adoption of RegTech solutions, reduction in the time to value, and increased investment over that time under Julian’s leadership. I’m looking forward to working with our CEO Deborah Young, the Executive and my fellow directors to bring our new strategic plans to fruition and grow the relevance and uptake of RegTech not only in financial services, but other regulated industries in Australia and offshore.

Leica Ison has been a board director of the Association since 2021 and will now assume the role of Deputy Chair. Leica is the Founder of Skyjed, an Australian RegTech company focussed on product governance. Leica brings a wealth of leadership experience as a CTO in the healthcare sector and executive roles across the Telco industry. Leica said today, “I’m delighted to have been appointed in this role as the association expands its remit into additional industry sectors and its footprint globally. I am committed to representing the members from the RegTech sector and working alongside my fellow directors to help shape the future direction of the association.”

CEO Deborah Young said of the appointment, “Jasper and Leica will bring fresh perspectives to their respective roles from an institutional, industry-agnostic and digital transformation viewpoint. They are both well regarded by their peers and fellow directors, and our Executive are looking forward to their leadership in the coming years. We’d like to acknowledge the contribution and industry leadership of Julian Fenwick over the past five years and look forward to his continued positive ongoing contributions as a Board Director.”

About the RegTech Association:
